Salta is a beautiful city located in the northwest of Argentina. It is known for its stunning colonial architecture, its vibrant culture, and its stunning scenery. If you are planning a trip to Salta, be sure to add an unanchor day tour to your itinerary. These tours will take you to some of the most beautiful places in the region, including the Salinas Grandes, the Humahuaca Gorge, and the Cachi Valley.

Salinas Grandes The Salinas Grandes is a salt flat located about 100 miles south of Salta. It is one of the largest salt flats in the world, and it is a truly amazing sight to behold. The salt flat is covered in a white crust of salt, and it stretches as far as the eye can see. You can walk on the salt flat, and you can even float in the water. It is an unforgettable experience.

Humahuaca Gorge The Humahuaca Gorge is a canyon located about 100 miles north of Salta. It is a UNESCO World Heritage Site, and it is one of the most popular tourist destinations in Argentina. The gorge is home to a variety of stunning rock formations, and it is a great place to go hiking or biking. You can also visit the small town of Humahuaca, which is located at the bottom of the gorge.

Cachi Valley The Cachi Valley is a valley located about 100 miles west of Salta. It is a beautiful valley, and it is home to a variety of small villages and farms. You can drive through the valley, or you can hike or bike along the river. You can also visit the small town of Cachi, which is located at the end of the valley.

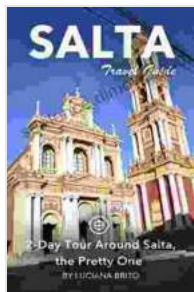

These are just a few of the many places that you can visit on an unanchor day tour from Salta. If you are looking for a truly unforgettable experience, be sure to add one of these tours to your itinerary.

Here are some additional tips for planning your unanchor day tour:

Book your tour in advance. Unanchor day tours are popular, so it is important to book your tour in advance to avoid disappointment. Choose a reputable tour operator.
